Victoria (Jansen) is an elite wedding planner who has a tight-knit circle of friends, and she's looking forward to being maid of honor at her best friend's destination wedding in Paris. But when the best man, who is also her ex and the man she was supposed to marry, announces that he's bringing a date, Victoria is shocked and a little hurt. As they spend time together, it becomes obvious that Jacques and Victoria's old puppy love might bloom into something more in the City of Lights.
